

PART ONE

PREVALENCE AND HEALTH

“Every number was a family member and a loved one.”

— Mary Assunta, head of the Framework Convention Alliance. The Alliance’s “death clock” started when countries began negotiating the framework convention on October 25, 1999, and has since tallied more than 39,779,710 dead of tobacco-related diseases.